

Seed vs Cement

Embracing Failure as the Catalyst for Legacy and Growth

KIM VERMAAK

The Mindset Whisperer

Author | Book Coach | Publisher Speaker | MC | Facilitator

In a results-driven world, failure is often treated as the end of the road. In Seed vs Cement, Kim Vermaak delivers a compelling keynote that redefines failure as a crucial part of long-term impact. Drawing from real leadership experiences and personal turning points, Kim shares how failure can either harden us or grow us.

This talk inspires teams and individuals to see failure as a seed full of possibility rather than cement that traps potential. It challenges audiences to rethink perfectionism, embrace the process, and lead from a place of emotional strength and long-term vision.

Key Themes Covered

- Redefining failure as a foundation for success
- Building emotional resilience in leadership
- Releasing the pressure of perfectionism
- Leading with purpose and a legacy mindset

Ideal For

- Leadership Conferences
- Entrepreneurial Events
- Growth and Innovation Summits
- Corporate Culture and Mindset Workshops
- Business Schools and Mentorship Programmes

Audience Takeaways

A fresh mindset on failure and setbacks

Tools to grow through uncertainty and challenge

Motivation to lead with clarity and courage

A legacy-based framework for personal and professional growth

Kim Vermaak is a respected motivational and legacy speaker. She helps leaders, teams and entrepreneurs turn personal and professional setbacks into powerful stepping stones. With over 20 years of experience in storytelling and communication, Kim equips her audiences to lead with vision, resilience and purpose.

